

* If at any point during an individual conduct proceeding information indicates an organization may have been involved, the University reserves the right to address the matter as an organizational violation.